The Soliloquy of The Full Moon

“Dazzling! Will stir love and devotion for Allah’s Beloved”
Shaykh Faraz Rabbani – Seekershub Global

The first work of its kind written in the English language.

The Soliloquy of the Full Moon is an epic poem composed over twelve nights in Rabi al-Awwal 1436H. Over a thousand lines, it celebrates the virtues of the Prophet (s), the signs preceding his advent, the wonders of his birth and nursing, the first revelations and his night journey and ascension.

Adventures With The Awliya

By Noor Yusuf

The series follows three young Muslim children—Jem, Mikael, and Munira—who live in the countryside and stumble upon a secret house hidden deep within a forest. Inside, they discover a mysterious Mihrab (a prayer niche) that acts as a magical gateway, whisking them away into the legends and histories of the past. Through this portal, the children enter the stories of the Awliya—the mystical "friends of God" and Sufi figures. Their journeys take them across the globe, from Persia to South Africa.

The Ihya Series: Prophetic Characteristics

[BOOK 20]

'Verily, you surpass all exalted character'. In this final book of the first half of the Ihya, Ghazali explores the internal and external Prophetic perfection, demonstrating how all the Ihya books covered thus far culminate in the exalted Prophetic personality.

Shaykh Asim will be covering the final book of the first half of the Ihya: Kitab Adab al-Ma'isha wa Akhlaq al-Nubuwwa. This beautiful work covers the elevated and sanctified characteristics (shama'il) of the Prophet Muhammad (s). It includes an analysis of how the Prophet صلى الله عليه و سلم himself was 'raised by Allah via the events of his life.
